King Fisher Ecolodge Champassak (Superior)

The delightful King Fisher Lodge, near Pakse, is a lovely place. For once, it's an eco-lodge which isn't just a case of greenwash - they really do everything possible to minimise their carbon footprint, from using low-wattage light-bulbs to installing their own rainwater storage tanks. The lodges look out over flooded paddy fields, with hammocks so you can lie back and enjoy the scenery. The Lodge has in total 10 bungalow divided in 6 Comfort Bungalow (4 Double & 2 Twin) and 4 Eco Rooms (2 Double & 2 Twin). All rooms have a ceiling fan and electrical plugs. Our open two storey restaurant, where Lao and western dishes prepared mainly with organic food are served, is set up directly over a pond and it overlooks the wetland area.
